

RI NEMO News

Dear Lisa,

On November 13, RI Stormwater Solutions will be hosting a workshop at the University of Rhode Island entitled, Reaching Out to Residents: Municipal Strategies for Public Stormwater Involvement. The workshop will showcase the strategies and materials that we have been developing specifically for municipalities to help them meet Phase II regulations relating to public involvement, education, and outreach.

Registration for this workshop is now open! For more information, including registration details, please visit the workshops page of our RI NEMO website:
