

RI NEMO News

Dear Lisa,

If your community is looking to mark stormdrains, RI NEMO and the University of Rhode Island are offering help this fall. We currently have four opportunities in September and October to offer student help for stormdrain marking events. Students are able to coordinate the events and perform the marking, but they also are willing to work with local organizations.

Depending upon your town's location, stormdrain markers might even be available for free, provided by RI Surfrider and Save The Bay. Please contact Lisa Philo, if you are interested in taking advantage of this opportunity.

Best regards,
 Lisa Philo
